S. D. A. CAMPMEETING

HEAD OF WORLD CONFERENCE AND OTHER PROMINENT CHURCH MEN SPEAK

"The World War in the Light of Bible Prophecy," will be the subject upon which Pastor Arthur G. Daniells, of Washington, D. C., will speak at the Seventh-day Adventist campground at West Washington street between Pacific avenue and Orchard street at 8 o'clock next Sunday night. Pastor Daniells is president of the General or World Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists. His extensive travels throughout the world and the years of study he has given to Bible prophecies and current events eminently fit him to deal in a masterful way with the subject he has chosen. He will arrive at the encampment from Lincoln, Neb., probably Sunday morning. He has been attending the educational convention of the Seventh-day Adventists of North America the past week.

Pastor George B. Thompson will arrive from Lincoln in company with Pastor Daniells. He is secretary of the North American Division Conference of the Adventists, and he is an able speaker.

"Present Day Events and their Relation to the Second Coming of Christ," is the subject upon which Pastor E. E. Andross, of Glendale, spoke at 8 o'clock last night. Mr. Andross is president of the Pacific Union Conference of the Adventists, having charge of the denominational work in the States of California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah and western Colorado. He is said to be a forceful and interesting speaker. Saturday night at 8 o'clock Evangelist J. W. McCord, of Long Beach, will speak on "The Millenium." He will read what the Bible says about one thousand years of peace.

Pastor G. A. Snyder, chaplain of the Glendale Sanitarium, spoke Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Pastor J. O. Corliss, of Glendale, a veteran of the Civil War and a prominent minister among the Adventists for many years, spoke Friday afternoon.

PI BETA PHI MEMBERS

Mrs. Perce H. Curtis of 1330 North Maryland entertained Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Chas. Rathbun, 1622 Burchett street, who is leaving for the North the first of next week. The hostess and guests were all members of the Pi Beta Phi sorority and the afternoon was most delightfully spent in conversation and excellent music by guests. The rooms and porch were very prettily decorated with roses, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Curtis. Those invited to honor Mrs. Rathbone were Miss Maude Soper and her house guest, Mrs. Florence Davidson, Mrs. Frank C. Ayers, Mrs. C. J. Spaulding and Miss Louise Spaulding.

INTERMEDIATE PICNIC

The Intermediate Department of the First Methodist Sunday School enjoyed a moonlight boating party at Echo Park Lake on Friday evening.

Leeds, superintendent of the department, Mrs. Bruce, La Crescenta, Miss Mary Blackburn, Florence Bruce, Hilda Brooks, Lois Rettig, Lillian Mason, Dorothy Brockman, Hazel Schlicter, Edwin Farrand, Cecil Wilson, Victor Colburn, Andrew Nelson, Tracy Claver, Harry Gorman, Charleston White, Guy Bennet, James McGowan.

CONRAD IS CHIEF GUNNER

Fred A. Conrad, son of Mrs. Jesse Joseph, received his commission Thursday from Washington as chief gunner and left in response to orders, for San Diego. Mr. Conrad served four years in the navy and accepted this commission at the urgent request of the war department. He will probably be stationed at San Diego.

THE STARS SPEAK

MRS. JULIA STEELMAN NICHOLS MADE WONDERFUL PROPHECY IN 1905

Mrs. Julia Steelman Nichols, 1103 Lomita avenue, Glendale, who has made scientific discoveries that have placed her name among those of the foremost scientists of the day, in 1905 made a wonderful prophecy from her study of the stars. The following article written by Mrs. Nichols is copied from the Los Angeles Record of July 31, 1905.

Turning towards Germany the world will soon be surprised to learn that steps being taken, instigated by a personage near the throne, will result in that nation losing considerable caste, and in time will cause the English crown to grow hot with anger.

Later some of the provinces of Germany will feel compelled to do that which now would cause them to open their eyes in great surprise.

Another point of interest will be the sudden and unexpected great loss of life of a portion of a large army, at sea, in the vicinity of the English channel.

Soon after, when death has kissed the brow of a royal personage, the north England, on account of unwarlike intrigues will feel called upon to lash the back of the already bent form of Russia.

Austria, oh, Austria; long shall thy sons and daughters blush for the present leading—the gold for thy already outstretched hand grows hot in thy grasp, while the earth throbs and trembles beneath thy feet.

Weep, Austria, now, for hot tears shall fall from thy sightless eyes, to burn deep and lastingly within thy once favored breast.

William, Emperor of Germany, Venus, thy ruling Star, calls thee to think long and well, ere Mars is permitted to cause the step to be taken which diplomacy would never prompt. For the moment consider time thy most valued friend.

Near at hand is the newsboy's cry: "All about the great excitement at the Dardanelles." The white flag is rent in twain, returning boats are rushing along the course o'er which they came. John Bull, with hands in pockets, is thinking long and earnestly while his fingers tingle at the nails.

Later France laughs in her sleeve at Germany's discomfiture, but a taint from Uncle Sam causes a speedy return to more sober sense.

Poland, heretofore at the edge of the Russian sword, turns on its wielder and pierces her deeply.

In the near future Russia takes unexpected steps, to the surprise of all Europe, for which she shall whistle the tune of regret for years to come.

Soon, through the influence of Saturn, a cloud arises on the horizon of Japan, shadowing her materially for a time—it soon passes, however, and the final outcome of the Russo-Japanese war finds the empire of Japan extending far into Siberia. A large portion of the balance will be divided between the English and the Turks, which latter country will soon feel called upon to bar Russia from her eastern possessions.

About this time through a peculiar Lunar influence, incited by Jupiter, there will come a critical moment at Crimea, but a climax may be averted by a change of the moon reinforced by Mercury.

Russia after making decided concessions to four great powers will relapse into quietude, having conceded to her people that which she has bitterly opposed doing in the past.

Owing to planetary influences serious volcanic eruptions are nearly due in Southern Oceania, near Australia. J. N.

July 28, 1905.

GUESTS SURPRISED

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bridge, 844 South Columbus, were the hosts at a most delightful dinner on Thursday evening, on which occasion in a reversal of the usual order of things the guests were the surprised parties. The decorations were decidedly bridal in character, being carried out in a color scheme of dainty pink and white. The secret was out when Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Donovan were presented to the assembled guests as newly wedded. Mrs. Donovan is a sister of the host, Mr. Bridge, and the wedding came as a great surprise to all present. Mr. and Mrs. Donovan will reside at 5822 Winfield street, Los Angeles.

Those offering congratulations were Mrs. Lettie Romberger, the Misses Helen and Alice Crow, Vera Betts, Margaret Romberger, Messrs. Carl Ratzer and Albert Fletcher, all of Los Angeles.

ROME, August 4.—Germany's warning to neutral countries who are considering closing their frontiers against Germany was sounded to-day when it was said that Germany would consider such an act as cause for war. Germany's threat was given especially against Holland.

DRAFT OPPONENTS DESERTERS

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT WILL DEAL PROMPTLY AND FORCIBLY WITH THOSE WHO OPPOSE THE DRAFT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 4.—Charged with desertion and tried before a military court is the fate of the men of Oklahoma, Georgia and other states who are forcibly opposing the draft. The government will interfere with anti-draft demonstrations promptly and forcibly.

MURDERS WIFE AND SUICIDES

MAJOR WILLIAM HOFFMAN, RETIRED ARMY OFFICER, COMMITS RASH DEEDS IN BOSTON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BOSTON, August 4.—Major William Hoffman, a retired United States army officer, to-day shot and killed his aged wife at their home here, and then committed suicide. No reason is given.

BRITISH CAPTURE LOST POSITIONS

BATTLES RAGE WITH UNPARALLELED FURY DESPITE HEAVY AND CONTINUED RAINS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, August 4.—Despite the heavy and continued rains, the British have wrested new positions from the Cortekor river to Cadar. Haig's troops are again established in Saint Julien, from which town they were driven early in the week. East of Monchy le Preux the Germans have been driven from the positions they captured Thursday night.

STREET CAR STRIKE IN BUTTE

WALK-OUT OF STREET CAR EMPLOYES IN MONTANA CITY TIES UP BUSINESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BUTTE, August 4.—The city street car system here is paralyzed by a general walk-out of all car men. The operation of mines is seriously interfered with on account of a lack of transportation facilities.

STATE GUARDSMEN CALLED

CALIFORNIA MILITIA IN LAST GROUP TO BE CALLED TO TRAINING CAMPS TO-MORROW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 4.—The United States will call into active service to-morrow its last group of National Guardsmen, numbering 75,745 soldiers. With this number the country has an estimate of 400,000 or more National Guardsmen ready for intensive training in southern camps. The troops to be called to-morrow include the California National Guard of 6541 men.

ARMY INTERPRETERS

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY TRAINING MEN IN MILITARY INTERPRETATION OF FOREIGN LANGUAGES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 4.—Expert interpreters by the hundreds will soon be needed to carry on the business of Uncle Sam's new national army abroad. Complete courses in military interpretation of foreign languages, approved by Secretary Baker and the war college, are being offered for the summer at Columbia University, where linguists of every variety will be turned out for home and field service during the war. They will enter the army with the rank of sergeant. First class interpreters, the War Department has found, are a hard class to muster into the service in large numbers. An applicant for the preliminary training course must be able to speak fluently and be able to read either French or German. His business will not be merely to translate military documents and letters. He must converse intelligently and aid officers with only a knowledge of English in carrying on that part of their business which must be done in foreign countries. Before receiving appointment to the service the applicant must pass the regular army physical examination—almost as big a job as learning a couple of languages. He must also prove American birth and citizenship and loyalty to the cause of the United States.

MUSIC CENTRE

GLENDALE MUSIC COMPANY GIVES FIRST OF A SERIES OF CONCERTS

The first of a series of recitals was given at the Glendale Music Co., Thursday evening. Mr. Adolf Lowinsky, Glendale's accomplished violinist, rendered three beautiful selections in such a manner that he held his audience enthralled. Mr. Walter Butterly sang two of Al Jolson's feature songs in a way that would have made Al himself jealous, so well were they given. Mr. James Reynolds of Los Angeles featured the Man Behind the Man Behind the Gun, a song written by Mr. Frank Liddell of Glendale, who is the composer of a number of selections. Several of Edison's re-creations were played upon Edison's latest and best laboratory model of the Edison Diamond Disc. The concert was very well attended by the people of Glendale, as every seat was taken and the doorway and sidewalk were crowded with those trying to hear the concert. Mr. Vincent Salmacia, proprietor of the phonograph and music department, and Mr. Salyer, proprietor of the piano department, have agreed to give these concerts once a month and furnish first-class talent only for the programs. Better facilities for accommodating the audience will be provided hereafter.

The object of these recitals, though they will not be commercialized, is to impress upon the minds of the people of Glendale that there is a first-class music store in their midst, and that the music business has one price on its articles throughout the United States, but the Glendale Music Company can give the best service because they are owners of their business.

WASTE OF LIGHT ON MOTORS

The editor of the Evening News has spent several hours this week observing adjustments being made in the headlights of automobiles by H. M. Butts of the Monarch Company at 421 South Brand boulevard. Mr. Butts has become very skilled in making these adjustments and in the course of the week he has had presented for adjustment about every kind of make of motor lamp that is in use. Mr. Butts is certainly in a position now to give very valuable advice as to what kind of lamps and what kind of electric bulbs will give the very best service.

It is safe to say that 90 per cent. of the headlights on automobiles have needed adjustments made, and that there has been a great waste of light in many instances.

These corrections in headlights have been made without any charge, and so many have been in the waiting line that it has been necessary to continue the work until after midnight. Mr. Butts says beginning with this evening the adjustments will be made from about 7:30 o'clock to 10:30.

ANTI-ANNEXATION MASS MEETING

A mass meeting will be held at K. of P. Hall, Brand Blvd. and Park avenue, Tropico, Monday evening, August 6, by citizens of Tropico to oppose Tropico's annexation to Los Angeles.

Do you want to force your children to travel to Los Angeles to attend High School? Annexation to Los Angeles will do it.

Do you know that your interest on Los Angeles Bonds will amount to $6000 a year? Annexation to Los Angeles will make you pay it.

Does Los Angeles assume any of Tropico's bonds? No.

Do you want to lose your splendid fire engine, and get a horse-drawn engine in return? Annexation will no doubt bring this result.

Mr. McNitt of Eagle Rock will address the meeting. Local speakers will also treat upon vital questions.

LOS ANGELES ANTI-ANNEXATION ASSN.
JAMES BARNETT, Pres.
W. PETERSEN, Secretary.

HAPPENINGS IN STATE

TO REGISTER CATTLE BRANDS FARMERS WASTE WHEAT AND RICE STRAW

SACRAMENTO, Cal., August 4.—Registration of 20,000 odd cattle brands used by cattlemen of California will be the first big task to be undertaken by the newly appointed cattle protection board created by the last legislature. As the main object of the act is to put a stop to cattle stealing in California, it is absolutely necessary that the cattlemen register their brands with the board immediaetly. It will be so arranged that no two cattlemen will have the same brand, in order to make detection of thieves easier.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., August 4.—Farmers of California who burn up their wheat and rice straw burn money, declares E. Oliver, prominent potash maker of Fort Seward, Humboldt county. Oliver, who is touring the state with the view to boost the production of potash, says wheat and rice straw make the finest kind of potash. "By using the waste straw," says Oliver, "the farmers could make potash and realize a neat revenue at a very small expense, besides getting rid of the waste and preventing fires. All that is needed by the farmer to make the potash is the straw, water and the inclination, with plenty of the latter." He says potash now sells for from $200 to $2000 a ton.

Oliver visited State Forester Homans while here in an effort to interest him in having those living in the forest regions to use the waste forest materials in making potash and thereby aid the state and national governments in the campaign to prevent forest fires.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., August 4.—Charles Johnson, state sealer of weights and measures, has fixed the standard net weight for buying and selling raw milk at 8:60 pounds per gallon. There is no tolerance allowed. Johnson says that dairymen have been selling milk at a variance of 8.50 pounds per gallon.

OAKLAND, Cal., August 4.—Commuters who travel on the Southern Pacific between Oakland and San Francisco can tell you instantly what number in the year each day had.

This bit of learning has been thrust upon the commuters. In order to save printing all Southern Pacific commutation tickets now instead of being dated are assigned their number in the year, the ticket for the 216th day being numbered 216.

BIRTHDAY PICNIC

A pleasant evening auto ride had a most happy termination for Mrs. I. E. Weaver on Friday evening, when on arriving at Echo Park she was surprised to find loving preparation had been made by the members of her immediate family for the celebration of her birthday anniversary. A picnic supper was enjoyed, the big birthday cake with the proper number of candles not being forgotten. After supper boating by moonlight on the beautiful little lake was enjoyed by the following members of Mrs. Weaver's family, I. E. Weaver, Prof. Geo. U. Moyse, Hollis, Doris and Laura Moyse, Mrs. M. R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moyse.

JOY WILLISFORD ILL

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford returned to their home, 129 South Kenwood, last evening on account of the sudden and most serious illness of their little daughter, Joy. The daughter was taken seriously ill while with her parents, who were spending a few days of vacation in Los Angeles. Although two skilled physicians and a trained nurse were called, the patient did not improve, so an ambulance from Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. was secured and the litle girl brought to Glendale where she is under the care of a most competent physician. It seems to be a case of peritonitis with complications.

THE WORK OF GLENDALE MAN

It will be of interest to patrons of the Palace Grand to know that "The Sawdust Ring," which comes from Clune's Auditorium to the Palace Grand on Sunday night is the production of a Glendale citizen, Mr. L. V. Jefferson, a well-known scenario writer, residing at 1221 West First street. Mr. Jefferson has only been writing scenarios for two years, but holds the world record in production for the time he has been engaged in the work. All the large companies, Triangle, Universal and the World, have produced Mr. Jefferson's plays. Among the best-known which have been presented in Glendale are The House of the Golden Windows, Redeeming Love, and Her Father's Son.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1917

HEARD IN GLENDALE!

First Citizen: Getting tired of all these calls for money. First it's this and then it's that. What do they think we're made of, any way?

Second Citizen: You mean that last appeal for the Red Cross. They certainly need all they can get.

F. C.: Of course. But it's getting monotonous, first a "silver offering for the Red Cross," then a "collection," then a party with some money-getting scheme, and so on.

S. C.: This war is monotonous, too.

F. C.: Somebody is bothering us for money, or work, or something all the time.

S. C.: You seem to be a target; everybody is after you, eh?

F. C.: No, not especially; they are "after" most of the others as well.

S. C.. Who are the guilty ones?

F. C.. Oh, principally the Red Cross bunch. I don't need to mention names, but some of them are always starting something that involves money. I was surprised that the affair at the Beamon home when they entertained the soldier boys was not used to make something.

S. C.. It would have been quite proper to get some change to help pay for the comfort bags that were given to the boys. Do you suppose they grow on trees?

F. C.: Any way, I think they are pushing this begging business too hard; we can't stand this giving, giving, giving, all the time.

S. C.: They've only begun. Our share in the war is hardly started yet. You'd better wake up and read the newspapers. We're at war. We must all fight, you as well, and if you are let off with an occasional passing request for a dime or a dollar, pay up and be thankful you get off so easy. You know, we must "give until it hurts!"

PEOPLE ARE BOUND TO THINK

It makes no difference what arguments may appear in newspapers, for and against the food control plan. It makes no difference to what extent newspapers and the people in general may argue for and against the United States soldiers being sent to France to engage in war, people will think and have their individual opinion. A man 50 years of age may arise and with a loud voice urge every young man to enlist as a soldier in world war, and while this man proceeds with his argument, the people continue to have their personal opinion. Another man may, with great force and eloquence denounce war, and while he is doing that the rank and file of men and women go on busily thinking.

URGE FOOD CONTROL

Better distribution of irrigation water—active development of flood control projects—such are two of the preparedness measures urged on the people of California by the Committee on Resources and Food Supply of the California State Council of Defense.

The flood control projects now under way in California—such as in Los Angeles County, for instance—will not only protect agricultural lands against annual danger of devastation, but will increase the amount of water available for irrigation.

California farmers should plan their food-producing campaign with a view of being prepared for the contingency of a three-years war. An enormous increase in California's production of foodstuffs is possible, predicts the University of California College of Agriculture, if every element in the community will aid in the great work in which the farmers of California are engaged.

TREMENDOUS TOLLS

"Professor, how would you ilke to receive a message from Mars?"

"Prepaid?" asked the professor cautiously.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AT THE BAKERY

Short-Sighted Customer—Aren't you making rolls a little larger these days, Mr. Brown?

Stout Baker — What. R-r-rolls! Them's loaves!

HOW'S YOURS?

"How's your motor car behaving?"

"Well," reported Mr. Chuggins, "the way it uses gasoline shows that while it may be weak in spots, its appetite is all right."

CORRECTED

Mr. Gnaggs—I slept like a log last night. Mrs. Gnaggs—A log? You slept like a whole sawmill.—Chicago News.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Old Gent—What's your name, my little man? The Little Man—They call me "Corns" at school sir. Old Gent—Good gracious! And why? The Little Man (cheerfully)—'Cause I'm always at the foot of the class, sir.—London Telegraph.

REAL LIFE MISSIONARIES

On Monday night, in the Lutheran church, corner Fifth and Maryland, there is promise of one of the most unique meetings in the interest of missions ever heard in Glendale. This is under the direction of the Men's Brotherhood. There will be four missionaries present: Mrs. Dr. Harpster and Mrs. Dr. Chester from India, Miss Planter, late from Morocco in Northern Africa, and Miss Bingham, the only missionary of the Lutheran Church among the Indians in Arizona.

Let all the Missionary Societies of the various churches take notice and respond to this glad word of welcome and invitation.

You will receive a help and uplift rarely your privilege.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

The committee appointed by the Glendale Chapter American Red Cross to arrange for the reception given by the Chapter to the enlisted boys at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon, 245 South Maryland, on Thursday evening, wishes to express its appreciation of the assistance received from many sources: To all who contributed to the excellent program, to the Jewel City Undertaking Company for chairs, and to the young men who so kindly conveyed them back and forth, to the City for wiring for lights and to each and every one who helped in any way, the Glendale Chapter through its committee extends hearty thanks.

A LIGHTNING RESULT

During the lessons one afternoon in a public school a thunderstorm arose, and, seeking to lessen the fright of the children, the teacher began an entertaining discourse on the wonder of the elements.

"Jimmy," said she, finally turning to a bright little youngster, "can you tell me what lightning is?"

"Yes, ma'am," was the ready rejoinder of little Jimmy. "Lightning is streaks of electricity."

"That's right," smiled the teacher encouragingly. "Now, tell me why it is that lightning never strikes twice in the same place."

"Because," answered Jimmy quite easily, "after it hits once the same place ain't there any more."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Nothing is more likely to exasperate Champ Clark, Speaker of the House, than to hear somebody pronouncing Missouri thus: MisSoura—instead of Mizzoury.

One day he heard a member from Boston saying Missouri with the sibilant sound—and corrected him.

"That's the dictionary pronunciation," insisted the Bostonian.

"Yes," said Champ, "and the trouble is that most of the dictionaries and other books are published in the northeastern part of the country. You go out to Missouri and try that dictionary pronunciation, and run for office, and see what happens to you."

AN ANCIENT ASTRONOMER

About 500 B. C. Anaxagoras of Ionia was born. When he "grew up in wisdom" he was the first to teach the course and cause of both solar and lunar eclipses and to give his followers rules whereby they could distinguish planets from fixed stars. He was punished for declaring that the sun was not a god.

HIS TENDENCY

"Does your boy show any literary tastes?" asked the visitor on the farm.

"Well," answered the father as he gazed down the road at his son driving home the lost pig "he can pen a stray article now and then."—Baltimore American.

HUMANITY'S SPOKESWOMAN

From an observant listener, a comscientious voter, and a comparatively silent member, Miss Jeanette Rankin, Representative in Congress from Montana, has emerged into the national limelight as a vigorous and forceful factor in humanitarian legislation. In her close observation of the machinery of government, as it operates through its legislative branch, she has apparently reached the conclusion that the interests, the big business, that labor, that every organized force of any magnitude, has its spokesmen in both the upper and lower branches of Congress; and her efforts will be best applied for the unorganized element—the great cosmopolitan army of workers and the humble mothers and fathers that will furnish the sinew, the spirit and love of country that will win the war. Her bill providing compensation for the woman who goes to war is thoroughly sound and intensely womanly. From $30 to $75 a month, as provided by its terms, is not extravagant. In lightening the burden of those who are left behind, she has the support of the whole Nation in her bill.—Washington Herald.

EXPENSIVE TO BE RICH

Mary had just been taken to call on grownup cousins who had recently built and decorated a large and handsome new house with which she was much impressed.

"Is Cousin Mary very rich?" she asked when she left.

"Yes, dear."

"Then I'm glad we're not rich. It must be so very expensive."—Harper's Magazine.

CAGED INSECTS

Pussy's constant loss of flesh, despite her good food, worried Jackie.

"She is thin this summer, because she eats flies," his mother said.

Jack regarded his scrawny cat with a new interest.

"She eats bees, too, mother," he said. "I can hear them humming."—Chicago Tribune.

ANXIETY

is the thing which gnaws at the vitals of a man, takes away his peace of mind, and renders him less efficient than he should be.

The Good Book says: "Be not anxious for the morrow."

To a man who loves his family and is mindful of those dependent on him, anything which will set his mind free from anxiety in regard to their future welfare, is more than welcomed. Level-premium life insurance is the only system yet devised for doing this whether a man lives or dies. Consequently it is invaluable to any man who wants to be capable of doing his best.

Let me talk to you about this great subject. Don't procrastinate. Now is the only time you have.

W. B. Kirk

Insurance Adviser (or Advisor—which is correct?)

A YOUNG STAR

The former playmates of Harold Goodwin, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Goodwin of 916 West Ninth street, who have not already seen him in "The Sawdust Ring," which has been shown at Clune's Auditorium this week, will have the opportunity of doing so at the Palace Grand to-morrow. Harold attended school in Glendale a few years ago. He is fourteen years of age. "The Sawdust Ring" is not the first film in which he has appeared. The Times says of Harold:

Everybody who has seen "The Sawdust Ring," at Clune's Auditorium this week has marveled over the work of Master Harold Goodwin as the little playmate of Bessie Love, and doubtless has wondered where he has been hiding himself.

As a matter of fact, Harold hasn't been hiding himself at all. He has been slowly but surely learning the art of picture acting, and he was lucky in that his first work was under the master director, D. W. Griffith. Maybe you don't remember him—because he was mostly just "atmosphere" then—but he worked in "Intolerance" and "Heidelberg." Before that he just used to hang about the Fine Arts studio and peek through the bars of the gate and wish and wish he could be a picture actor. That was when he was going to Hollywood High School, and the vacation after he graduated, he waited outside the big gate to such good purpose that one day a director in need of a small boy rushed him in with a crowd of other small boys, and he got a chance. He is only 14 years old, but ambitious to become a great star, and I guess everybody who has seen him believes he will, too.

He will appear in person at Clune's Auditorium to-night and sing, this feature having been aranged by W. H. Clune in response to numerous public requests to see Harold in the flesh and blood.

MILITARY BALL

By Walt. Le Noir Church

The military ball to be given this evening at Masonic Temple under the direction of Miss Alice Frank gives every promise of being a brilliant affair. The primary object is to give our soldiers a cheerful, happy and delightful evening among their neighbors and friends, a courtesy they will remember with pleasure on the tented field, on the sentry beat under the silent stars, or in the grim ditches with death- and destruction-dealing missiles flying all around them and among them.

The other object is to add to the funds of the Red Cross, to help succor and save those very boys from the effects of wounds or other physical ills.

If for any reason you do not care to dance or to encourage dancing, you can at least attend and enjoy the excellent entertainment before the dancing and treat yourself and your lady to ice cream and cake. The fifty cents or dollar you spend may save the limb or the life of one of our boys. Besides, the small sacrifice on your part, if you consider it a sacrifice, rather than a privilege, will give you both pleasure and profit.

Soldier and Sailor Notes

By oversight, the following names were omitted in the list of patrons and patronesses printed in the News yesterday: Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Kelly, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Nanno Woods. They are among the best workers for the cause.

Mr. John Hyde Braly, Chairman of the Glendale Chapter, American Red Cross, will give a short heart to heart talk to the young soldiers and sailors to-night. Mr. Braly is always interesting, but to-night he has a message of paramount importance.

Item. Miss Curtyne Engler, the wonderful young and beautiful dancer, breaks a very desirable engagement to dance at Masonic Hall to-night for the pleasure of our enlisted boys and for the benefit of the Glendale Red Cross.

The fair and fascinating young girls of the invitation committee have in store to-night a most delightful surprise for the youthful heroes who are going away to the war. It is—but telling might be spoiling.

Go to Masonic Hall and see for yourself. If you miss it, the loss will be yours.

IT WAS TURN ABOUT

While the village blacksmith toiled manfully over the old farmer's plowshare the owner of the share recounted at some length the wonderful success he had had with three litters of pigs he had marketed that day.

"Them pigs were less than eight months old," the farmer ran on, "and they brought me 10 cents a pound, or a little more than $400. Why, a few years ago those same pigs would have brought me only half as much. I tell you, the farmer is having his harvest now."

The smith, having finished sharpening the share, handed it to his customer. From a well worn purse the farmer took two dimes, the usual price for the job, and dropped them into the smith's hand.

"You'll have to come again," said the smith, still holding the money in his outstretched palm. "I charge 30 cents since the first of the year for sharpening that size plow."

"Why, how now?" the farmer exclaimed testily. "That's an outrage. Why have you raised the price on me?"

"To buy some of that high priced pork you were tellin' me about," was the smith's calm reply.—Youth's Companion.

WHAT TO ME IS DEARER

I love the open ranges,
The sagebrush prairie wide,
The mountain peaks of grandeur,
The ocean's whitecapp'd tide.
I love the silent vistas
Of shadow and of light,
The dawn and sunset glory,
The songbird's sweet good night.
But what to me is dearer
Than fields or skies of blue
Are the hearts of those who love me,
The honest hearts and true!

I love the smiles of childhood,
The hopes, the joys of youth,
And manhood's strength and courage,
Which stands for right and truth.
I love the faces honored
With sunset years aglow,
The lives of benediction
Which bless us ere they go.
But what to me is dearer
Than life's swift passing day
Is the thought of God above me,
Who will not pass away!
Littleton, Colo.

JOSEPH HENRY AYERS.

A USE FOR THE ACORN

Did you ever hear of acorn flour? It is not exactly what the housewife of to-day would call a staple but, once upon a time, at any rate, the acorn was commonly used as a foodstuff. For many, many years the Indians of California were accustomed to gather acorns and grind them into meal. This meal they stirred into large vessels of water and thus they removed the acid tannin. Then they poured off the water, dried off the meal, and ground it all over again. It is said that this acorn flour really made a very palatable food.

FORGETFUL

Uncle Ezra—I hear your boy has joined the aviation corps.

Uncle Eben—Yes, and I'm afraid he won't make good.

Uncle Ezra—What makes you think so?

Uncle Eben—He's so durn forgetful that he's liable to take the machine up and come down without it. —Puck.

Moth—"My son, you should never defer until to-morrow what you can do to-day."

Son—"Then, mother, we'd better eat the rest of that turkey to-night, hadn't we?"

TOO TALKATIVE

"Edgar is a splendid talker, isn't he?"

"One of the finest I ever escaped from."

MARKING THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Actual work in sign-posting the Lincoln Highway westward from Salt Lake City into Southern California started yesterday when the signing crew of the Automobile Club of Southern California left the club headquarters in Los Angeles over the famous Midland Trail through the Owens river valley.

With the completion of this work in two weeks, motorists travelling east and west over the northern route will be guided accurately to the pacific coast by the shortest practicable road, which is via Ely, Nevada; Tonopah, Big Pine and Los Angeles. They will have the added advantage of following a route which is scenically beautiful and open the entire year, with the exception of from four to six weeks in the Westgard Pass. This latter contingency can be avoided, however, by detouring through Benton.

From Salt Lake City to Los Angeles over the Lincoln Highway and the Midland Trail it is 862 miles, while the route to the coast at San Francisco is 911 miles at the shortest.

While the Midland Trail as far as Ely has already been marked by the Automobile Club, this system will be revised now, and the new posts into Salt Lake will be placed over a distance of 293 miles. A large "diverting" metal sign will be placed near Ely, pointing to the Southern California 300 mile boulevard system, and indicating the fact that motorists will find the road thoroughly marked.

A complete report of the territory traversed by that section of the Lincoln Highway lying between Salt Lake City and Ely filed by D. C. Rhodes of the Automobile Club, who charted the route and who is in charge of the sign-posting truck, shows that while the road crosses desert country in places, whether to the north or south, it is not at all hazardous, and with the signs pointing the way, it can easily be followed.

Heretofore the route of the Lincoln Highway has been indicated by red, white and blue stripes painted upon any convenient poles along the way. The lack of such poles between Ely and Salt Lake has made this procedure impossible, and it is here that the Automobile Club will place its metal signs, each indicating mileages and with arrows pointing into the southern part of the state where boulevards beckon. Each sign will carry red, white and blue bands, with a large "L" showing that it is the western extension of the Lincoln Highway being followed.

According to Secretary Mitchell, the Automobile Club will first do the sign-posting between Salt Lake and Ely, which will be completed in two weeks. Directly afterward, the sign-posts of the Midland Trail from Ely to Los Angeles will be renovated and improved. It will then be impossible for any visiting motorists to lose their way coming to Southern California.

While Los Angeles is designated as the terminal of the route, all of the southern counties will receive an equal distribution of the visitors, as the Automobile Club is serving as host to all, and is sending them throughout the southern part of the state. From the Imperial Valley on the south to San Luis Obispo county on the north, every section will feel the pull of the increased transcontinental travel.

It is estimated that ninety per cent. of the motorists coming westward from the east over the great Lincoln Highway will come first into Southern California as a result of the club's sign-posting activity. It is expected that there will be more than 25,000 eastern automobile parties come over the route next year.

Maps of the Lincoln Highway from Salt Lake to Los Angeles are now in course of construction at the club headquarters, and will be ready for distribution at an early date. These will show every turn of the road and will be available for all members free of charge.

A letter received by Secretary Mitchell from Secretary Bement of the Lincoln Highway Association, states that the big organization in the east is distributing data, showing the excellent boulevard system of Southern California for each of the thirteen counties, and is also actively engaged in making known the fact that the route is being thoroughly sign-posted.

BIRD'S LONG DISTANCE FLIGHT

A rancher living near Red Lodge, Mont., last summer shot a large bird of the hawk family. Picking it up, he found that the bullet had grazed and stunned it, and that it had no serious injury. Instead of killing it as he would have been justified in doing in the protection of the farmer's fowls, he put a paper bearing his name and address in a little bottle which he tied around the bird's neck. Two months after, Luis Felipe Rulda of Bogota, Colombia, South America, shot the bird, and finding the name and address in the bottle sent a letter to Red Lodge stating the facts. The bird had flown 3,000 miles with the bottle and message.

TUJUNGA

Miss Frances Peckham of Glendale entertained a week-end party of sixteen young people at Frank Begue's ranch in Haynes canyon. All report having a fine time.

TheTujunga Bee Club met on Monday evening at the home of Ensign Woodruff and held a very interesting meeting, each giving an experience which proved helpful to others. This club is wide awake, and notwithstanding many discouragements and a poor season, not one proposes to give up the work. Mr. Woodruff exhibited some fine honey he had just extracted, some sixty pounds, from two hives.

The Woman's Guild of the Episcopal church held a picnic at the home of Mrs. W. I. Morgan last Friday. The day was also the birthday of one of its members, Mrs. Maygrove, who was honored by a birthday cake, on which was 16 candles, and also a basket of gifts from her friends of the Guild. Mrs. Samson, of the Guild from Los Angeles, was also a guest, and enjoyed with the ladies the sumptuous feast under the trees at noon.

Dr. Darling of Ocean Park, is spending a few days at his home on San Ysidro Road.

Eustace Rowley and Percey De Wellow, who are quartered at Mare Island, are expected home for a brief furlough.

A Red Cross mass meeting was called for July 29th at Bolton Hall. Miss Culver addressed the meeting on the Red Cross needs at the present time, and urged that every one lend a helping hand and give at least one half hour each day to the work either knitting or sewing or snipping. Tujunga auxiliary has set the stunt to make 100 small surgical pillows before September 1st, and call on everyone to snip for filling the same. Mrs. Ludke has kindly given the use of her home for Monday and Thursday, from two until five, and Mrs. Shayner will instruct in knitting and give out sewing to those who prefer to work at home. Anyone, whether a member of the auxiliary or not, will be gladly welcomed at these meetings, where they can give an hour or two in sewing on the various garments. Miss Wieman, who is a Red Cross nurse and giving instruction in the city, explained the work there in a very pleasing manner. Mr. Wieman then followed with a short discourse on the work, urging that now is the time of greatest need and it behooved every one to help in the work, as it was in the cause of humanity. He also proposed that on the fifth of August another meeting be held and every man bring a pair of shears and be prepared to snip; the women needles and thread for their work. There will be a program and speakers for the occasion. A collection was then taken and the proceeds turned over to the society.

Charles Thayer has accepted a position in the city and we shall miss him from our midst.

Mrs. Mitchell is building an addition to her house on Stephens way and will remain here to care for Mr. Mitchell who had a slight stroke sometime ago, but is on the road to recovery now.

Mrs. Hetty Hartranft, mother of M. V. Hartranft, is quite ill at her home in Los Angeles.

The surveyors of the state highway from Tujunga to San Fernando, were surveying for the road bed last week, Friday and Saturday, which is good news to those who are waiting for its completion. Now what is the matter of the R. R. officials, who promised some time ago to begin work before June 1st. We are listening for the answer.

Captain Helmes was a caller on Sunday, looking at the land he had purchased, and said he hoped to build his house sometime this fall.

Mr. Kirshman, of Walnut Drive, has returned from a visit to Iowa and Minnesota and says Tujunga looks good to him yet.

Mrs. Hardy and son Jack, are occupying their home on Monte Vista, while Mr. Hardy is east for goods for the new Ville store.

The gardens of Tujunga have been a wonderful success this year. Mr. Fitzgerald has handed in a list of vegetables, etc., that he has at present on his acre. Figs, strawberries, green corn, potatoes, cucumbers (3 kinds), squash, lettuce, onions, carrots, beets, turnips, Swiss chord, kale, cabbage, and five kinds of string beans. This land lies on the Michigan boulevard, where other gardens nearby are growing all their owners can eat. Many think because we have rocks, nothing will grow, but a trip around the valley will convince the most unbelieving that fruits and vegetables do well here, many growing more than they can use.

Charles Warren is at home from the Sespe for a short time, called here by the illness of Mrs. Warren.

The ladies Aid held their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Hubbard Thursday afternoon.

The young people of the Christian Endeavor will hold a meeting at Bolton Hall Aug. 4th, and employ the time "snipping" for the Red Cross auxiliary, instead of the usual games, etc.
